

Waves of Pain

Like the ring of a tree, charred by fire forever,
Discoverable anytime an axe descends to sever.
So too is the pain forever seared deeply in my heart,
Exposed at each milestone that Kim and I are apart.
A journey of lifelong love like a train to embark,
Only to be derailed, until death we do now part.

Looking back at scenes I will never again see,
Looking ahead at scenes that will now never be,
The pain comes in waves from every direction.
Comes from her children missing her affection,
Comes from her sister who shared a special love,
Comes from all who ever knew her here and above.

Solace comes from knowing she is a heartbeat a way.
Her smile lighting my soul again on that longed for day.
Like fresh air to a trapped miner, life will gush through me,
As death comes now as a welcomed friend to set me free.
Two soul mates now joyfully reunited in the same realm,
Two angels living forever together as promised by Him.